

Supercharge your finance teams with AI-driven insights and automation

INCREASE EFFICIENCY WITH MICROSOFT COPILOT FOR FINANCE

Finance teams face many challenges:

62%

are stuck in drudgery of data entry and review cycles¹

80%

are being asked to add value beyond their traditional day-to-day roles²

88%

say they don't have the tools to automate repetitive tasks and free up time for innovation³

Microsoft Copilot for Finance can help, by transforming finance workflows and capabilities using next-generation AI

It's hard to overstate the importance of finance teams. They're central not just for executing mandatory operations but also for providing real-time business insights and guiding growth strategies. And they handle a broad spectrum of essential yet intricate tasks, from managing quote-to-cash processes to overseeing risk and compliance.

But many finance professionals say they don't have the tools or time they need to meet day-to-day demands while also helping drive growth. Microsoft Copilot for Finance (now in public preview) can provide a powerful boost, enhancing operational efficiency and decision-making capabilities. And it's designed to integrate directly into the applications and data (including Dynamics 365 and SAP) that finance teams use every day—so they can produce exceptional work within familiar tools.

Smart data integration and broad user adoption are the keys to success with Microsoft Copilot for Finance. Avanade can help you get the most out of these new AI capabilities, including through Copilot Studio and its 1,000+ prebuilt connectors for business applications such as SAP and Workday. Let us help you transform your financial operations to meet modern challenges.
